Watch competitors dance for big money at Midnight Rodeo

hese people really know how to dance, Check them out in the Marlboto Country Nights Showdown at 9 p.m. today at Midnight Rodeo in Loma Linda.

Craig Sloat from Loma Linda and Michele Nishimi from Redlands are two of the dancers who have placed well in the previous two weeks of competition.

They will dance with their partners tonight to try to win $500 and advance to the regional championships in Tempe, Ariz.

Midnight Rodeo is at 295 E.

Caroline St., San Bernardino. Call (909) 824-5444 for more information.

Here are some other fun things happening in the Inland Empire today:

New show

You won't want to miss the "Horrors of the Universe" planetarium show that opens at 7 p.m. today at San Bernardino Valley College.

The show, which opens just in time for Halloween, is about the unknown side of the universe. Ooh, spooky.

There also are shows scheduled for Oct. 30, Nov. 6 and 13.

The show will be in the George F. Beattie Planetarium at 701 S. Mt. Vernon Ave., San Bernardino. Admission: $3 general, $2 seniors and students, $1 children younger than 10. Call (909) 888-6511, Ext. 1458 for more information.

You can help

Ellen Diefendorf, a teacher at Highland Pacific Elementary School in Highland, says she and her students are helping the Humane Society of San Bernardino during Make a Difference Day on Saturday.

Diefendorf says her group still needs some donations to help animals in our area. Pet food, blankets, towels, bundled newspapers, and money are needed. Donations can be mailed or delivered to the school: 3340 E. Pacific St., Highland, 92346.

Call (909) 864-4490 for more information.

Teen Read Week

Here are some ideas for encouraging teenagers to read more:

If you liked the movie, read the book. Chances are you'll like the book even more.

Read aloud with a friend. Sharing can make you feel closer. If you have a particular concern or interest you'd like to read about, ask a librarian for recommendations. Librarians are there to help you—no questions asked.

Teens, look for more tips on reading as Teen Read Week continues and remember that tomorrow is another Brand New Day.
